Courses Description

This course embraces an explanation of the concept of obligation, its definition, sources of obligation in the Jordanian Civil Code which includes contract, unilateral disposition (unilateral will), unlawful Act (tort), beneficial act (unjust enrichment) and law. Besides, this course studies the sources of obligation from the perspectives of performance and required guarantees for performance. It also defines the protective measures of such sources of obligation, its characteristics and elements. Finally, this course addresses the means of repudiation of the sources of obligation.

Objectives:

Sources of obligation are crucial elements of the Jordanian civil law which has developed its own particular principles in a number of respects. This module is intended to give students knowledge and understanding of the general principles of the sources of obligation. By the end of the course, students are expected to:

- 1.Acquire a good understanding of sources of obligation in order to apply the legal knowledge to problems encountered in real life.
2. Explain when and how legal doctrines and rules operate in given fact situations.
- 3.Being able to engage in a reasonably accurate analysis in areas of sources of obligation.
- 4.Provide reasonably well-written, pertinent and structured discussions in the field of sources of obligation as opposed to unsupported assertions by making correct use of legal terminology.
- 5.Show a reasonably sound knowledge of the doctrines and rules of sources of obligation.
