

110202452      Commercial Papers and Banking Transactions

This course explores the general principle of commercial law, which regulates commercial papers. The particular rules relating, promissory note, checks and other commercial papers are examine. This course shows how commercial papers are given special treatment by the legislator in order to be circulable and secure.