

Dr. Mohammad Abdulhameed AlQudah

Professor of Pathology

Short Resume

Dr. Mohammad AlQudah is a Professor of Pathology and Laboratory Medicine at School of Medicine and a Consultant Pathologist at The Hashemite University and at Jordan University of Science and Technology. Dr. AlQudah is currently the Dean of Medicine at The Hashemite University. AlQudah served as President Assistant at Jordan University of Science and Technology (2020-2022) and as Director of International Relation Office (2020-2021) and as Vice Dean of Deanship of Scientific Research (2018-2020). He also served as Acting Chairperson for the Department of Pathology and Microbiology at both School of Medicine and King Abdullah University Hospital from 2016 – 2018. And served as Assistant Dean – School of Medicine from 2014- 2016. Dr. AlQudah is currently a member of board of directors for Islamic Hospital and Board of Trustees of National Center for Human Rights (By Royal Decree)

Dr. AlQudah did his undergraduate study in Medicine and Surgery at Jordan University of Science and Technology and graduated 2004. He completed his higher specialty degree in Histopathology at Jordan University of Science and Technology 2009. Further training at Manchester University Hospitals from 2010 – 2012. He is board certified in Jordan and Diplomateship of the Royal college of Pathologists since 2012.

Dr. AlQudah Published around 50 Publications in Pathology and Laboratory Medicine and Education and participated as a co-advisor for 4 Master students at Jordan University of Science and Technology.

Dr. AlQudah is also an active member of Medical school accreditation committee and curriculum committee. He is also an evaluator for some Academic programs by the Higher Education Accreditation Commission.